STUDIOFORMA PRESS RELEASE | ROTONDA – CANDLE HOLDER | MAY 2022 - FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

UPCYCLING WASTE MARBLE TO CREATE LUXURY DESIGN PIECES

ZURICH, SWITZERLAND – With the Rotonda candle holder, the architecture and design office Studioforma shows that waste marble is as high quality as using block marble to manufacture luxury design pieces.

For the past years, finding ways to minimise carbon emissions have become paramount. As a result of such, a myriad of established designers, such as Alex Leuzinger from Studioforma, are constantly seeking ways to create sustainable design pieces whilst considering the impact these might have on the environment. To attain this goal, Studioforma collaborates with Valsecchi Marmi, a Swiss natural stone manufacturer with a century of high craftsmanship, to create a candle holder entirely made of waste marble – Rotonda.

Rotonda candle holder

The Rotonda candle holder is known to be amongst the sustainable design collection of Studioforma. The immaculate design piece, made of white waste marble and streaked with anthracite grey veins is presented in a composition of eight cylinders encased in rounded slabs. For the form and sizes of the aesthetic candle holder, Alex Leuzinger draws inspiration from nature's formula for perfection, the golden ratio, as the elements fit into each other.

The cylinder elements can be arranged as desired. With Rotonda, Studioforma and Valsecchi Marmi transform waste marble to shine in new light. The candle holder is the epitome of sustainability, beauty, and nature.

"The design idea is to create a profound sense of ownership by enabling everybody who purchases the Rotonda candle holder to become the master designer of their home."
– Alex Leuzinger, CEO & Owner of Studioforma
